Free TB X-ray Unit Due Here For Three Days, March 19-21

Hinton H. Pruett, county superintendent, and chairman of the TB X-ray survey in Milam county, again calls attention to the survey which starts in Milam county beginning at:

Buckholts, March 17, One day ONLY, at the old Bank building.
Cameron, March 19, 20, 21, at Hefley-Stedman Show Room, THREE FULL DAYS.

Thorndale, March 25, ONE DAY ONLY, at the Garner-Barnes Bldg.

Rockdale, March 27 and 28, TWO FULL DAYS, at old Rockdale State Bank Building.

"Having your chest X-rayed regularly will insure protection to you and your family," assures Mr. Pruett. "Early tuberculosis of the lungs, found before there are symptoms, can usually be cured," he asserted. Checking your chest requires less than one minute for the X-ray. There is no inconvenience to you, as you are X-rayed standing up with your clothes on.

Do not fail to take advantage of this free health service, 7,000 X-rays in Milam County in 1953! We can do it if you will help.

Revenue Office Will Be Open Until Mid- Night Monday

Taxpayers will have an extra day to file 1952 income tax returns, according to information obtained today from F. J. Schultz, local representative of the Internal Revenue Director's office. This extra day, Monday, March 16, 1953, is due to the fact that the usual deadline date for filing income tax returns falls on Sunday, which is a non-work day.

The local Internal Revenue office will be open until midnight, Monday, March 16, to accept returns, but taxpayers are urged to file their returns before that time.

Farm And Ranch Leaders To Meet For Membership Enrollment Plans

One hundred and twenty-five farm and ranch leaders from throughout the county will gather at Simon-Gorge Hall in Cameron next Tuesday evening to draft final plans for the Farm Bureau membership enrollment plans.

These workers will be treated to a barbecued chicken dinner to fortify them for the task of enrolling five hundred members according to John A. Smith, membership chairman. Loyd B. Barbour, state director, and chairman of the powerful roads committee of Texas Farm Bureau will address the workers on "Legislation pertaining to Agriculture." Mr. Barbour is a farmer from Iowa Park, Texas.

These community committeemen were selected at one of the respective 10 meetings sponsored by the Milam County Farm Bureau. County Chairman John A. Smith said he talked with 270 farmers and ranchers who composed the combined attendance of our series of meetings. I want to express my appreciation to the many people who have helped make our program a huge success that it has been thus far.

The following is a partial list of the membership committee:

Legion To Honor Korean Veterans

Men who have returned from the Korean war in this area will be honored by the American Legion of Cameron in a program set for April 14. March 15 to 22 has been proclaimed by Governor Allan Shivers and Mayor O. B. Horstmann as "Korean Veterans Appreciation Week."

O. G. Tumlinson, commander of the local American Legion is inviting the congregations of all churches in Cameron, as well as the schools, luncheon clubs, chamber of commerce, junior chamber of commerce and all other civic units to join in honoring the men who have returned from the Korean conflict.

The local American Legion Post is seeking the names of all returned Korean veterans in Milam county so that these can be invited personally to the party.

"We want to urge every Korean veteran and his wife to be our guest at this occasion. If such a member does not get a special invitation from a member of the Post, we would like for him to come out anyhow," Commander Tumlinson said.

An effort to find out the names of close relatives of men who have lost their lives in the Korean conflict is also being made.

CityDads Planning New Lighting Plan

The Cameron City Council met in special session Thursday night to discuss a new lighting plan for the city.

According to Alderman J. C. Andres no definite plans or commitments have been made yet. The council is waiting for estimates and surveys by lighting engineers to find out exactly what the city needs.

A Texas Power & Light Co. engineer was supposed to have met with the group for their special session, but was unable to attend because of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Kemp of West Texas visited his mother, Mrs. Lina R. Kemp last week.

Cameron's Junior Chamber of Commerce played host to nearly 500 children Wed. afternoon when they formally opened their Lite-A-Bumper safety campaign. The program was held for all bicycle owners.

Starting the show for the kids was Milton Schiller who gave them a short talk on the Jaycee safety objective. Schiller introduced Patrolman Merideth, from the Department of Public Safety in Austin. Merideth gave a short talk on safety measures that should be practiced by the children. Patrolman John Blansit was introduced so that all the kids would know who he is in case they wanted help from him.

Three reels of film were shown covering safety in walking, safety in bicycle riding and the safety patrol.

While the kids were in the show, Jaycees were putting Scotchlite reflector tape on an estimated 225 bicycles free of charge. During the program the children were told that if they had not been able to ride their bicycles to school that they could bring them to town Saturday afternoon between 1 and 5 p. m., pass through the safety lane which will be operated by the Jaycees, and have free Scotchlite tape put on the fenders.

School Superintendent W. T. Hanes expressed great appreciation to the Jaycees for their safety program and their efforts to instruct children in safe bicycle riding. He called Wednesday afternoon's program a complete success.

Local Jaycees will apply "Scotchlite" reflective tape to the bumpers of local cars and trucks in a move to reduce accidents and improve safety on the streets and highways. The program is part of a national "Lite-A-Bumper" automobile safety campaign backed by the Public Safety Committee of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The reflective tape—already in use on trucks, ambulances, fire engines, and police cars in a number of cities over the country—glows brilliantly at night when picked up by the headlights of other automobiles.

A special taping station for applying the reflective tape has been arranged on the north side of the square and will be manned by a crew of Jaycee members Saturday, from 1 to 5 p. m. A nominal charge is being made for each bumper reflectorized by the Jaycees to cover the cost of the tape and its application.

The "Lite-A-Bumper" program has already received full support and endorsement by local city and police officials as an "excellent means of reducing night-time accidents."

The tape is said to be equally effective on rainy nights when visibility is exceptionally poor, and it is stated to last for at least two years under normal conditions.

The "Scotchlite" reflective tape is applied in one-inch strips. Red is applied to the rear bumper, while silver tape goes on the front.

The material is said to be visible at night up to a quarter-mile and is designed to catch the eye of motorists about 70% quicker than regular tail lights.

Services For Miss Annie Bowman Held at Home of Dr. and Mrs. Watson

Funeral services for Miss Annie Bowman were held at 2:30 p. m. Friday, March 6, 1953, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Watson, 316 East 13th.

Dr. A. Norman Evans, pastor Austin Avenue Methodist church, Waco officiated. Rev. John Solomon, pastor First Presbyterian church and Dr. Mark C. Magers, pastor First Methodist church, Cameron assisted. Interment was made in Moorville, Texas, with Marek-Burns funeral directors in charge of arrangements.

Miss Bowman died at 8:15 p. m. Thursday, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Watson, where she had made her home for the past seven and half years. She had been in ill health for a number of years.

Those who survive Miss Bowman in Cameron are two sisters, Mrs. James Watson and Mrs. W.

Highway experts point out that—with today's higher speeds—the motorist needs every bit of additional warning he can possibly get to avoid an accident. The light-reflecting qualities of the tape provide the added measure of safety that sometimes can mean the difference between having an accident and avoiding one.

Automobiles protected with reflective tape are visible at night, even when parked by the roadside without lights, long before they could otherwise be seen. Furthermore, it was pointed out, the tape is visible even against the glare of headlights of oncoming cars.

The "Lite-A-Bumper" campaign has been adopted by the local, state and national Junior Chamber organizations as a means of promoting public safety on the highways and also as a method of raising funds to support their many other community service programs.

The idea for the campaign was started first by the Roanoke, Va., Jaycee chapter several months ago. Since then, the project has spread to chapters in all sections of the country and thousands of passenger and commercial vehicles have been reflectorized by similar "Lite-A-Bumper" campaigns since.

Application of the tape takes but a few minutes, and it is the goal of the Junior Chamber to reflectorize every car and truck in the entire area by means of the program.

Chamber Draws 150 Guests For Annual Banquet

A crowd of about 150 assembled Tuesday night at the annual chamber of commerce banquet to hear Gordon Turrentine, vice president of the South Texas National Bank of Houston discuss industrial and community development.

Turrentine's advice for industrial development was simple. He stated that community development must precede industrial development, that communities must first develop themselves and then they will become attractive to industries. He listed a number of new industries which could grow and prosper in Texas.

One of the highlights of the night was the presentation of the McCullin Award, a civic award cup for the outstanding citizen of Cameron during 1952. Mrs. John Solomon accepted the cup from A. W. McCullin in the absence of her husband, Rev. John Solomon, who could not attend the banquet.

New officers and directors were installed. The officers were: Richard Moseley, president; Henry Siebman, first vice president; Lewis McKee, second vice president; and L. G. Smith, manager.

The new directors introduced were Gene Blake, Charles Brady, Jack DuBois, Leo Fuchs, W. T. Hanes, Lewis McKee, Milton Schiller and Hilliard Thomas.

$390,000 Maintenance Tax, Bond Election Set For Saturday

Voters of the Cameron Independent School District are scheduled to go to the polls Saturday, March 14 to decide on a maintenance tax and bond issue.

The Board of Trustees has asked for $390,000 with which they plan to build new facilities and renovate the old school plant.

The tax for both bond retirement and maintenance has been lumped into one sum of $1.35. Of this amount about 42c will be used for bond retirement and the remaining 93c will be used as a maintenance tax.

A similar election was defeated Saturday, Dec. 13 by the slim margin of 35 votes. At that time the Board of Trustees was asking for $500,000.

Two Cars Demolished In Head-On On Elm Creek Bridge Sunday P. M.

Injured in a head-on collision at 7:30 p. m. Sunday were Henry Ford Roberts, Rt. 4, Cameron, and Melvin Howell Ehlert of Brenham.

According to Highway Patrolman John Blansit, Roberts was driving a 1948 Kaiser south on U. S. Highway 77 at a very high speed. Blansit said that Roberts whipped his car out of the line of traffic when he was on the Elm Creek bridge, lost control and hit the bannister on his left side, came off of the bannister, hit it again, and then ran head-on into a 1951 Chevrolet driven by Ehlert. Ehlert was headed north on 77 leading a line of traffic and also meeting a line of traffic, making it impossible to either dodge or get out of the way of Roberts' car.

Both Ehlert and Roberts were hospitalized in St. Edwards Hospital Sunday night but released Monday morning.

Charges of driving while intoxicated have been filed against Roberts.

Bill Scurlock Named To Head UT Exes Ass'n

Bill Scurlock of Rockdale was elected president of the Milam county University of Texas Exes Association at their annual banquet held at Cameron Country Club Monday night. Con Isaacs was elected vice-president and Mrs. Dwight Moody was re-elected secretary.

Hubert (Casey) Jones of the University of Texas was guest speaker at the banquet.

Out-going officers of the organization are: Dr. C. G. Swift, president; and Bill Scurlock, vice president.

It has been announced that although there are three voting boxes for the coming school election on March 14, any voter in any community may use any box if he is a qualified voter.

The three boxes will be located at the Yoe High gymnasium, at the Walker's Creek School house and Elm Ridge School house.

If a qualified voter is a resident of Elm Ridge and happens to be in Cameron on the day of the election he could vote at the Cameron box.

There is no doubt but what we are far behind the times. Ada Henderson elementary school was built to accommodate 450 students and there are now approximately 600 enrolled. They have been crowded and jammed into every available inch of space. The size of the classes ranges up to 41, giving little or no chance for individual instruction of young children when they need it the most.

Our present school buildings are falling down. Unless more money is provided to maintain it we are going to let practically a million dollar investment go to pot. Ceilings are falling in Ada Henderson School, new wiring is needed in both Yoe High School and O. J. Thomas School, lighting is inadequate over the entire plant, heating is inadequate at O. J. Thomas, roofs are leaking badly on every building, and throughout the plant doors and windows are rotting for lack of paint.

There is no doubt but what something will have to be done. We need additional facilities and we need money to repair facilities we already have. And we need money to prevent these new facilities from getting into the shape the old ones did.

Car Turns End Over End Near Buckholts

About 12 noon Saturday a 1949 Chevrolet coach driven by Jimmy Wayne Sojourner, 19, of Abilene, was totally wrecked at the curve just east of the city limits of Buckholts. Sojourner, a student at A&M, was going west on Highway 190 at about 55 or 60 miles an hour. His car skidded on the curve due to wet pavement and hit the shoulder, turning end over end one and one-half times.

In the car with Sojourner at the time of the accident were Norman N. Davis, 19, and Barton W. Sandem, also 19, Davis and Sandem are also students at A&M. They were slightly injured.

According to Highway Patrolman John Blansit the accident was caused by bad road conditions and no charges have been filed.

Hundreds Visit Ada Henderson School For Public Schools Week

Loughmiller also reported as a sidelight that Thursday 653 pupils were in school. This broke all previous records of attendance. There are 679 pupils enrolled in Ada Henderson.

Loughmiller also reported that Mrs. Winnie Henderson Martin, recently married had not resigned from the staff, but had only taken a leave of absence. Mrs. Martin is being temporarily replaced by Mrs. Leo Jackson.

AN EDITORIAL

Saturday will be the day that we will decide whether we are going to remain as we are or push ahead and provide adequate school facilities for our children.

It is not only a privilege but a duty to every qualified voter in this school district to vote in this coming bond election.

In the columns of this paper and in The Daily Midget, we have tried to inform the school patrons of the condition our schools are in at the present time and of the additional facilities that have been recommended by a reputable architectural and engineering firm.

There is no doubt but what we are far behind the times. Ada Henderson elementary school was built to accommodate 450 students and there are now approximately 600 enrolled. THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER WANTS LAW GUARANTEEING HIM $5,000 IF HE DOESN'T MOVE OFF IN 5 YEARS

Editor's note: It's some times hard to figure out what the Little River Philosopher on his Johnson gramm farm in Marlow is talking about, and this week is no exception.

Dear editor:

You know in these days some people figure you can solve any problem from naggin women to bad credit at the grocery store by passin a law, and I wasn't surprised the other day when I picked up a newspaper which got caught against my hog wire fence out here which I keep in good repair because it stops more papers than a bobwire one where some legislator is proposin a constitutional amendment to put more doctors in small towns.

Under his plan, a state board would be set up to loan deservin medical students $5,000 for four years of study. When they graduated, if they practiced medicine five years in a small town, the loan would be considered repaid. If they went right to a city they'd have to pay the money back plus four per cent interest.

Now a lot of people contend this is an unnecessary law, if a young doctor can make it for five years in a small town, nobody has any business bribin him to go there in the first place, and if he can't make it or won't stay there even if he can, why go to the expense and trouble of givin him a free medical education to start with?

But I don't look at it that way. My only complaint is that the proposed law doesn't take in enough territory. For example, we not only need doctors in small towns, we also need druggists, blacksmiths, soda skeets, lumbermen, bankers, preachers, teachers, drygoods merchants, etc. That fellow ought to broaden his law to take in all these, give each young man interested in any of these fields $5,000 to go to school on, and thus guarantee at state expense that the small town will endure forever.

Moreover, take me. It's a little late for me to get in on that $5,000 gift in an educational sort of way, but practically every small town needs farmers livin around it, it seems sort of customary, at least nearly every town I ever heard of has a bunch of farmers livin around it, don't know whether it just happened that way or was planned by the legislature, and what if me and a lot of other farmers decided we could make a lot more in the city? It's one thing for a small town to be without medical service, but have you ever seen one that tried to get along without food? What I'd like to see is a law passed givin me and all the rest of the farmers around here $5,000 if we'll agree to stay on our farms five years. If anybody moves off before then, he has to pay the money back plus four per cent interest, which is a reasonable enough rate, even if you move.

This seems like an imminently

Drouth Threatens Spring Planting

A government expert said the Southwest's worst drouth in history still strangles half of Texas, and most of Oklahoma. The blighted areas are West Texas, part of North and South Texas and all of Oklahoma except some southeastern and north central sections.

Louis P. Merrill, regional director of the United States Soil Conservation Service, said that was the situation as of March 1. He said light rains since have given only meager relief.

He said about 140 counties of East and Central Texas and some areas of Southeastern and North Central Oklahoma are no longer on the critical list.

Merrill's report took into consideration only farmland. It did not deal with city water supplies. For example, Dallas is still searching desperately for water.

Merrill said the study showed dry weather duration at eight Texas reference points as: Big Spring, 30 months; Del Rio, 38; Falfurrias, 40; Fort Stockton, 28; Lubbock, 34½; Haskell and San Angelo, 29; Amarillo, 20 months.

In 83 counties of the wheat-growing areas of Texas and Oklahoma the winter cover crop is in poor or only fair condition. The wheat cover in Hansford, Ochiltree and Lipscomb counties in the Texas Panhandle is small and thin and beginning to turn yellow for want of moisture.

Cattle are wintering in fair to weak condition, Merrill reported. Where they are in fair condition in the drouth areas, he said, it has been only because of mild weather.

One of the present threats is the lack of enough moisture to plant spring crops, including corn and cotton. Field men reported that more than 50 counties in Texas and more than 25 in Oklahoma do not have enough moisture for spring planting.

Friends of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Walker were sorry to learn that Mrs. Walker's grandmother had died Wednesday. Mrs. Walker was in Memphis, Tenn., at the bedside of her grandmother at the time of her death.

The "Grassfinder" . . . A Hound for Hunting Grass

CHICAGO—Now you can read your newspaper while you are cutting the lawn! Taking all the back-ache out of summer chores is the above machine, the only power mower in the world that cuts grass and weeds by its own direction—unaided by human hands, ropes, wires or electronic remote controls!

The Fairbanks-Morse new "Grass-Finder" follows the grass line like a hound follows the trail. Once you've cut a border around the lawn and switched over to automatic control a sensitive mechanical "nose" guides the rear wheels to turn the mower in towards the uncut grass. Built for heavy continuous duty the Grass Finder cuts square corners, around trees, and irregularly shaped borders. It cuts as it climbs or descends on reasonably uneven ground.

BEAUTY FOR AGED

MORE THAN TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND . . . patients in hospitals, old people's homes, orphanages and other charity institutions will receive free beauty treatments from licensed members of the beauty profession during National Beauty Salon Week, February 22-28, 1953. Shown here is one of the "free beauty salons" which play such an important part in the rehabilitation program of many institutions throughout the country. Hairdressers Armand Ravanetti and Ethel Shaw are providing free hair styling to patients at Goldwater Memorial Hospital on Welfare Island, New York. The great personal satisfaction and tremendous opportunity offered by the beauty profession is the reason more and more young women are taking it up as a career.

Gen-Tex Schools Now Holding Defense Drill

A large majority of Central Texas school systems are now holding regular civil defense safety drills and are working to perfect other defense measures, a survey recently completed reveals.

A total of 37 school systems in the area reported that complete disaster drills are held regularly, while four more reported partial ones. Only seven said that no safety drills are held.

Also, 28 school systems said that safety education is a regular part of their programs, and another 17 systems reported that partial safety programs are now underway.

With an eye toward the rigors of our atomic age and the world situation, every school which took part in the survey reported that some form of citizenship training is being given students now. Many of these include mental hygiene, conservation of resources and other activities aimed at helping the state's civil defense program.

A number of the school systems are going even further with their civil defense set-ups by designating safety areas for school buildings, making evaluations to determine what natural disasters are most likely to occur, and by appointing civil defense coordinators.

The survey was a cooperative project of the State Division of Defense and Disaster Relief and the Texas Education Agency. It was carried out on a state-wide basis and broken down into 16 districts.

The Central Texas area referred to is Disaster District Number 1. Included in it are Austin, Bartlett, Bastrop, Bertram, Blanco, Briggs, Bryan, Buchholts, Buda, Burnet, Caldwell, Cameron, College Station, Dime Box, Dripping Springs, Fayetteville, Flatonia, Gause, Georgetown, Giddings, Hutto, Jarrell, Johnson City, La Grange, Lexington, Liberty Hill, Lockhart, Luling, Manor, Marble Falls, Martindale, Pflugerville, Prairie Lea, Round Rock, San Marcos, Schulenburg, Snook, Somerville, Taylor, Thorndale and Thrall.

Kerosene will remove rust from bathtubs and sinks.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

Q. I realize there's just no way to cure a cold. But isn't there something I can do about aching bones, a runny nose, and all this sneezing and coughing?

A. You're right—there's no sure cure. But you'll recover from your cold more comfortably if you follow these rules. If at all possible, go to bed when you feel a cold coming on and stay there for twenty-four hours. If you can't go to bed, take it easy. Don't exert yourself. Every three hours on the first day, and two or three times a day thereafter while the cold hangs on, take the following mixture: To the juice of 1 fresh lemon, add ½ glass of water and ½ teaspoon baking soda. Drink as foaming quarts. Follow a sound health regime: eat lightly of nourishing food. Drink plenty of liquids. Try to isolate yourself as much as possible. And, remember, if the cold persists, or if there is fever, by all means call your doctor!

Burglars stole five television sets from Rogers' City Marshal Frank Tucker's TV shop early Thursday morning while the marshal slept less than half a block away.

The sets, four table models and a console, were valued at $1,000. Only three sets were left in the shop. Tucker left the shop about midnight and went to bed in his home a half block away.

The burglars broke the glass in the front door of the shop and apparently loaded the sets in front.

It was the second burglary in two weeks. Burglars took $300 from the hardware store across the street from Tucker's shop on February 20.

A. J. Rinn Jr. Takes Austin Girl As Bride In Church Ceremony

Miss Edna Lee Croslin and Arthur J. Rinn Jr. exchanged marriage vows in an informal wedding Tuesday evening in the chapel of the First Methodist Church in Austin.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Marvin S. Vance, before an altar decorated with white flowers, candelabra and palms.

Traditional wedding music was sung by Mr. Malcolm Gregory with Mrs. Victor Clark at the organ.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Wilburn Croslin, 1407 Northwood Road, Austin, is a graduate of Manor High School and Nixon-Clay Commercial College of Austin. Until recently she was employed by the Guaranty Finance Company.

Mr. Rinn, son of Mrs. Edna H. Rinn of Sharp, is a graduate of Sharp High School. He also attended Nixon-Clay Commercial College in Austin and at present is serving as a corporal in the US Air Force. He is stationed in Westover, Mass.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length wedding gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. The bodice was of lace with a tiny collar and long pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt was inset with panels of lace and her fingertip veil was fastened to a fitted lace cap with orange blossom trim. She carried a white Bible, and wore a double strand of pearls.

The bridesmaid, Mrs. Charles W. Croslin, was dressed in a lime-green net dress also in ballerina-length. Her bouquet was fashioned of pink carnations with lime-green tulle and ribbon streamers. As her sister's junior bridesmaid, Carol Beth Croslin wore a ballerina-length dress similar to the matron of honor's.

William L. Spiegel Jr. was best man, with Paul E. Green and Charles W. Croslin serving as ushers.

A reception for the couple was given at the home of the bride's parents immediately after the wedding. Arrangements of white gladioli, carnations, stock and fern were used to decorate the table which held a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Croslin chose a woodrose silk shantung dress with navy accessories for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy silk shantung with navy and white accessories, and both wore white gardenia corsages.

For her traveling ensemble, the bride selected a biege wool suit with brown accessories and a biege straw hat trimmed with brown and gold flowers. She wore a white orchid corsage.

After their wedding trip, the

Comments From A Pastor

WHO IS YOUR MASTER?

One of the great truths Jesus uttered in His incomparable sermon on the mount was, "No man can serve two masters." The portion where this statement is found is about the middle of the sixth chapter of Matthew's gospel. In this section Jesus speaks of earthly treasure as over against heavenly treasure.

It is hard for us to keep the distinction in our minds which Jesus made between these two types of treasure. If we are Christian in our thinking, we really want to lay up treasure in heaven. But so much of it is mixed up with a lot of dirt. In other words, our heavenly motives and desires and selfish purposes. Jesus says we develop a spiritual blind spot—most of us are afflicted with spiritual aberration.

My dad used to have a good philosophy which was probably not original with him. He said, "The only money we really have is what we give to others cheerfully." Possibly that is one reason he was never a rich man as the world counts riches. That is laying up treasures in heaven. So many of us find it difficult to give time, talents, and money in a completely unselfish and cheerful way. These we are inclined to make our god, and we do not want to give away our God. And here is the key to our whole problem: "You cannot serve God and mammon."

Our trouble is that we have not really set God upon the throne of our hearts as complete Lord and Master. How descriptive of our confused world is Jesus' statement, "No man can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and despise the other." How mixed up a lot of people are because of divided allegiance. Let us make God in Christ our Master, and many of our seeming problems will vanish as quickly as they seemed to gather upon our horizon.

Rev. John C. Solomon
First Presbyterian Church.

Gene Dixie Walker of Gause visited in Cameron last week. Mr. Walker says there is growing interest in the oil outlook in that community.

The Pulpit Speaks Saving "It Makes a Difference"

There are approximately two billion people in the world. We often think and say, "Why should I give so much care as to what I do and where I go?" God can't pay much attention to one individual out of so many. Most people won't know the difference where I live or die, and won't care how I do, either.

We say, therefore, that what I do is of very little importance. We think that only great multitudes count and only great movements have significance, and that what one lone person does can't amount to much. Jesus corrected this age-old fallacy by saying that God notices everything and that even the giving of a cup of water shall be rewarded. Likewise, if we hurt one of God's innocent and little children, it would be better for us if we had never been born. God sees and remembers you, kind reader, and will let nothing you do be forgotten. Remember, it makes a difference.

Jesus always welcomed the multitudes and had compassion on them, but when He had a blessing to give, He gave it to individuals. e. g. the blind man, the palsied, the sick child, the sinful woman. Great movements have their origin in individuals. Armies are recruited one by one, elections are won by one vote at a time (it makes a difference how you vote and whether you vote at all or not.) A new generation is born one baby at a time here and there over the whole earth.

God calls men as individuals into His Kingdom and work. We are told that His interest and love is like that of a father for His sons. He knows us by name and cares for our souls. He wishes you and me to come into our highest possible development and to know life at its best. This attainment will come, not to nations or communities as a whole, but to individuals in them. He has been patient, and kind, and loving, all through the centuries just to give His life and power to those individuals who would receive His gifts, and to give light to those who would walk in His way. He has been hindered by men's selfishness and greed, and sinful stupidity, yet He cares for every man and has

Revival to Continue Another Week At Nazarene Church

The revival at the Nazarene Church will be continued through another week, the pastor, Rev. Lambert has announced.

Rev. John E. Threadgill of Austin is doing the preaching. Good crowds have been in attendance for the past week and much interest is being shown as the revival progresses.

Services are held each evening at 7:30, and on Sunday services are held at 11:00 a. m. The pastor extends an invitation to the public to hear Rev. Threadgill each evening for the coming week.

ANNOUNCING

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Green are the proud parents of a seven pound and 14 ounce son born at a local hospital, March 6, 1953, at 6:25. He has been named Raymond Craddock Green.

The mother is the former Winnie Mae Craddock. She is employed by McLain Pontiac Company. Grandparents are Mrs. R. B. Craddock of Cameron and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Green of Rockdale.

Buy happiness for crippled children. Buy Easter Seals.

put a value on everyone. It makes a difference to Him what we do.

Furthermore, God carries on His work today in business and professions, in church and state through the help of individuals. If we walk and work with Him, others will find the light and see the truth and be saved. We are the light of the world and the salt of the earth. If we as individuals fail God, we make someone else fail, too.

Therefore, take heed—it counts more than you think what you do and say and who you become. It makes a difference how you live. God sees us and knows; and our fellow men will be saved or lost according to whether we lead them into the light or leave them in the darkness.

One man in a million is of great enough value for God to remember and value.

"If His eye is on the sparrow I shall not forgotten be."

The group met in the Rotunda of the Capitol at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Beck, the receptionist gave a brief history of the building of the Capitol, and interesting facts concerning its structure.

The first stop on the tour was the office of Mr. John Ben Shepard. He explained his many duties briefly.

Representative Yezak, then led the group to the Legislative Chamber where the group was seated in the balcony to observe the Legislature in session.

Senator Secrest, invited the group to seats in the balcony of the Senate Chamber to observe that group in session later.

Next the Court of Criminal Appeals Judge Morrison, explained the duties and responsibilities of that court.

The group went from there to Governor Shivers office for a brief visit and introduction there.

After lunch a visit was made to both the Legislature and Senate to observe committee hearings.

The Hall of Secretaries, the Library, Comptroller's Office, and the Treasury Department were all visited with interest.

So this is HOUSEKEEPING

Having just won a signal victory, I'm prepared to state that some simple experimenting in typing your mate will save many precious hours trying to persuade a husband to go somewhere, do something, buy something!

As mute testimony to prove my point, our house is now graced by a new whirlpool clothes dryer to match my automatic washing machine in a beautiful set!

Over a period of days as opening wedges I tried:

Sly Hint: Me: "This is another of the 269 bad days the Weather Bureau says we can look forward to this year so I can't hang out the clothes and your shirts won't get done."

Jeff: "Doggone it, I've got to have a shirt tomorrow!"

Only a few men will see the point without further prodding.

Flattery: Me: "You're so much smarter than I am, explain something to me. One of the features of the dryer I'd like to get is that it automatically shuts off both the heat and tumbler when the door is opened accidentally or on purpose."

That's an important safety factor but I don't know how it works."

Jeff: "Sorry, I don't know either."

(Some mechanically-minded men will jump at this opportunity.)

Practical Approach: Me: "The new dryer I have in mind has all sorts of wonderful advantages like an ultra-violet lamp to keep clothes air-fresh, capacity of 20 pounds of wet clothes, an automatic safety thermostat, a smoother tumbler surface that's gentle on clothes, only two dials to operate..."

Jeff: "That's nice."

(Practicality is the thing a number of husbands can't resist.)

Facts and Figures: Me: "Whirlpool Corporation is the world's largest manufacturer of home laundry appliances and they say that a clothes dryer actually saves 2,973 hours over clothesline drying!"

I needn't go into detail but it's the Facts and Figures that paved the way toward convincing my type spouse. Now that I know the format I won't waste time with hints, practical approaches or flattery. As I say, once you have him typed, the rest is easy!

Construction Co. At Alcoa Broken Into; 300 Checks Taken

According to Sheriff Carl Black, the Peterson Construction Co. was broken into Thursday night.

It looked as though the thieves were after nothing but money—checks and a check writing machine. Although there was a quantity of valuable equipment in the building, very little of it was bothered.

Printed and numbered checks from numbers 25,551 to 25,850 were stolen along with a check writing machine. There were also nine checks taken that had already been filled out.

The checks were all drawn on the National Bank of Commerce in Houston.

Sheriff Black has asked that all merchants and banks be especially careful in examining all checks issued by the Peterson Co. to make sure that the number is not between 25,551 and 25,850.

Local Negroes Collide With Southern Pacific

Miller and two companions, Herman Jones and Jesse Wilson, were returning from Fort Worth when the accident happened.

Of the three, only Miller was hospitalized and his condition is reported as not serious.

TEXAN PARADE

By ROSS PHARES

SAM BASS, ROBIN HOOD IN BLUE JEANS

The ballad makers and scenario writers have made about everything out of Sam Bass that a sentimental and admiring public could desire. The most romantic version is that he went wrong because of love—love of a horse.

Reporters who were not hypnotized by his glamour described him as a semi-illiterate esoteric—but a cheerful one. He was kind, and generous — with other people's money, of course.

"A kinder-hearted fellow you seldom ever see."

Sam Bass was born on a farm in Lawrence, Indiana, July 21, 1851. While a youth he came to Texas, where he worked for Sheriff W. F. Egan of Denton County. He was generally regarded as an honest, hard working young man—until he became the owner of a "little sorrel mare" which was about the fastest pony in those parts. He loved the money the animal won in races, for now he had spending money he had never had before. But he loved the pony with a passion that only horsemen can understand.

He neglected his work so much because of the mare that his boss told him that he would have to either give up his pony or give up his job. He gave up his job, and joined a cattle drive to Deadwood, Dakota, with Joel Collins.

According to Bass he was robbed of three hundred dollars in Deadwood. Just who got the money—women, gamblers, or horse racers is not known. But to recoup his fortune, he, with Joel Collins, began robbing stage coaches in the Black Hills; and then robbed the Union Pacific at Big Spring to the tune of $60,000 in $20 gold pieces in one of the boldest holdups in history.

Bass and his partner, Jack Davis, rode back to Denton County in a dilapidated old buckboard so rickety it had to be tied together with strips of rawhide. Forty thousand dollars in freshly minted gold pieces made the trip without incident hidden under their bedding.

Nobody thought it would be much trouble to put the robbers behind bars. Their names and descriptions were known and well advertised.

Bass was surprised to know this, also that Collins and his partner had been killed by officer on the way home. Some of the gang proposed going to South America.

Not Bass. If he was a public figure he would play the part. And where could he have a more enthusiastic following than in Texas. He gave out interviews to the press, announcing that he was in the train robbing business for keeps—his public could watch the papers to keep up with the excitement. And if any of the local talent cared to throw in with him, he had a few good openings for the right kind of men.

Recruits came in rapidly; and so did the Law—sheriffs, Texas Rangers, posses, detective, and publicity seeking individuals bent on making a reputation by killing a train robber. Bass and his gang were not hard to find. In fact he had announced, for the convenience of the press and the opposition, where he could be contacted. As a result the timber in the Elm thickets around Denton was shot to pieces. This kept the gang pinned down for a while.

Then, while peace officers were beating the brush in Denton County, Bass moved into the Dallas vicinity, and in less than two months staged four train robberies within a few miles of the city.

For the next few months Bass and his men played fox and hound with the officers over Central Texas.

In July, 1878, he decided to rob the bank at Round Rock. He was betrayed by Jim Murphy, one of his gang, who, against his better judgment, he neglected to kill. The Rangers were waiting for the outlaws.

Two over-zealous deputies set off the battle prematurely, by being so presumptuous as to question Mr. Bass about the matter of him wearing a gun. Both deputies were shot in the twinkling of an eye.

Ranger Dick Ware is credited with firing the fatal shot as Bass attempted to leave town. A .45 bullet cut two cartridges in Bass' belt, and tore his right kidney to pieces.

From Friday until Sunday afternoon Bass lived in great agony, though he was given the best available medical attention. He was questioned hour on end about his associates. He talked some about himself. But not one word about his friends. The answer was always the same: "No, I won't tell."

The poetic loyalty of the dying outlaw inspired the poets no end.

Sam met his fate at Round Rock, July the twenty-first; They pierced poor Sam with rifle balls and emptied his purse.

Poor Sam he is a corpse and six foot under clay.

And Jackson's in the bushes, a-trying to get away.

And Jim Murphy, the man who helped most to make train riding and banking safe in Texas—to hell with him!

And so he sold out Sam and Barnes and left their friends to mourn. Oh! what a scorching Jim will get, when Gabriel blows his horn! He may have got to Heaven—there's none of us can say—But if I'm right in my surmise, he's gone the other way!

Som died on July 21, 1878, his twenty-seventh birthday. And the poets trained to sing of his love of the trails, of horses and of cows, and of his heart of gold; he was Robin Hood who had discarded his bow and arrows for two good six-shooters.

Adolescence is the period during which a child tries bringing up his parents.

Austin.—Spot checks of meat markets by the State Health Department meat inspectors insure Texas housewives that when they buy a pound of hamburger they're getting a product whose contents have been carefully defined by state law, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

In revealing that more than 1,000 meat samples were collected last year for laboratory analysis from all sections of the state, Dr. Cox says that the food and drug inspectors have been ordered to increase the frequency of their inspections of community butcher shops in an effort to curb the sale of horsemeat as hamburger.

By state law, hamburger is defined as "chopped or ground fresh beef, with or without the addition of beef as such, and with or without seasoning, and shall contain not more than 30 per cent fat."

That definition, health officials say, makes it unlawful to add chemical preservatives or fillers such as cereals or swim milk.

It prevents unsuspecting housewives from paying ground beef prices for a high-fat content product, or one which has been doctored with inexpensive cereals. It protects the consuming public against a spoiled or adulterated product which could be hazardous to health.

More than 95 per cent of the meat products analyzed in state laboratories last year were hamburger. State law makes no distinction between hamburger and ground beef.

The 30 per cent maximum fat content of hamburger is a standard set by the Bureau of Animal Industry, and except for one or two exceptions is adhered to by all states. A similar maximum has been established for moisture content.

Twenty-six meat inspectors work under the jurisdiction of the Texas Health Department's bureau of food and drugs. More than one errant meat dealer can testify to their diligence.

Gamma Globulin Will, Not Be Distributed By Red Cross

There has been some question about the distribution of Gamma Globulin taken from blood collected by the Red Cross in Milam County. The Red Cross will not allocate or distribute Gamma Globulin. Since the amount of globulin needed will far exceed the expected supply the Office of Defense Mobilization has requested the National Research Council to consult with appropriate professional, industrial and governmental groups to determine the most feasible and equitable method of allocation and distribution in time for the next polio season.

In other words the allocation or distribution of gamma globulin will be left up to the office of Defense Mobilization and they will distribute it according to the advice received from these groups.

Hereford Group To Meet Monday Night

The members of the Milam County Hereford Association and any other interested persons or guests are going to have a Livestock meeting the 16th of March. That is next Monday night, and is to be held at 7:45 in the Rockdale High School Building. There are three purposes for this meeting. To set the date for our fall show; to set the date and begin planning for a cattle tour similar to the one performed last summer; and to discuss and possibly plan for a sale in the future.

This is a very important meeting, so please try to be present.

Gene Blake Registers For City Alderman

It was learned Saturday that Gene Blake had registered in the race for city alderman.

Signing up just before the deadline, Blake will run unopposed along with present incumbents, J. C. Andres and Robert Weems. He will fill the seat left vacant by O. B. Hardin.

M-Sgt. and Mrs. Virgle Turner and two sons, Tommy and Gary of Seguin spent the past weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Turner of Curry.

X-Disease Spreads To East Texas Herd

Fort Worth.—The mysterious X. disease, which has stricken some 10,000 head of cattle in West and north Central portions of the state, spread Monday into East Texas.

Known as "hyperkeratosis," the disease gradually wastes away after mouth and internal organs become severely inflamed.

Contaminated cottonseed pellets were blamed Saturday for earlier outbreaks of the disease in North Central and West Texas, but it apparently was springing from a new source in East Texas.

Don Ferrell, veterinarian for the Texas Livestock Sanitary Commission, said meanwhile the exact source of the cattle malady can not be determined.

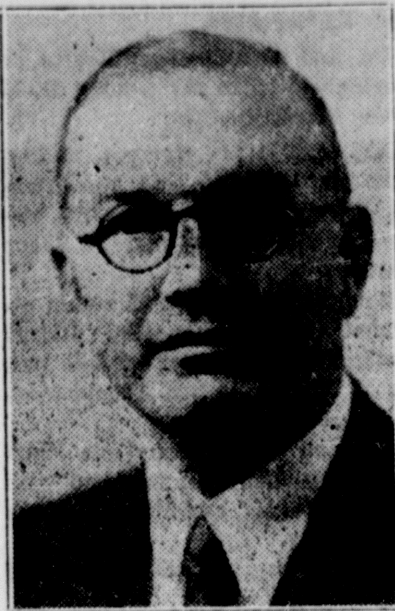

The diseased animals are also closely examined at the Fort Worth stockyards before and after slaughter by federal inspectors. One inspector said, however, that X-disease would not necessarily contaminate the meat.

Texas producers sold more livestock during 1952 than the year before but total gross receipts were 13 percent less.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hugland of Hutto visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Petmecky this week.

Highway Department Will Open Bids

Austin.—Bids on highway projects expected to cost $10,500,000 will be opened March 17 and 18, the State Highway Department announced Saturday.

The proposed work includes 157 miles of a new construction in the farm-to-market road system and 170 miles of pavement or improvement in the state highway network.

Major construction projects include work on U. S. Highway 59 in Houston, U. S. 80 in Terrell County west of Mofeta, U. S. 82 in Grayson County between Whitesboro and Sherman, and U. S. 81 north of Austin.

MY APPRECIATION

A Difficult "Situation"

Did you see that "Classified Ad" last week? The one that wanted a farmhand who had to be "an expert agriculturist, sheep herder, tractor driver, bridge player," plus being "an authority on chemistry and mathematics?"

Slim Thomas, who ran that ad more or less as a joke, called and said, "I got 23 answers and almost every one claimed they could meet all those qualifications! That means I want to keep the man I have—'Handy' Peters."

"He was thinking of quitting but now I've got to talk him into staying. Handy never pretends to be an expert, he's just a good all-around hired hand."

From where I sit, Slim's smart to be wary of people who consider themselves to be all-around "experts." Some folks will "expert" on anything—from the clothes a man should wear to whether he ought to drink beer or buttermilk. Personally I don't want to "classify" myself as knowing all the right answers.

Today... more than

ONE BILLION DOLLARS of Life Insurance in Force

ON MARCH 10, 1903, Southwestern Life Insurance Company was chartered to serve the people of Texas.

It began as a small business dedicated to the provision of sound life insurance and investment services to its three million Texas neighbors. True to these purposes, since July 4, 1903, when the first policy was issued, it has been growing in Texas and with Texas and for many years has been the largest insurance company in the nation which confines its business to its home state.

Today, as the Company observes the golden anniversary of its founding, it takes great pleasure in announcing that total insurance on the lives of Southwestern Life policyowners has reached and passed $1,000,000,000.

During a half-century Southwestern Life has helped hundreds of thousands of Texans provide a measure of financial security for themselves and their families through life insurance. More than a hundred and sixty-five million dollars has been paid to policyowners and their families in policy benefits. More than two hundred and fifty million dollars has been loaned to Texas real estate owners and many millions of dollars more have been invested in state and municipal bonds and corporation securities for the development of Texas.

The Company's place in the community and in the life insurance industry today is the cumulative result of these fifty years of business association with our Texas neighbors, the purchasers of Southwestern Life policies. It was and is their respect and confidence in the Company and its field representatives which enabled Southwestern Life to survive and to find its place in our free enterprise system. It is this friendship and good will which we cherish and gratefully acknowledge as we come to the end of these first fifty years and look forward to another half-century of responsible and fruitful service to the insurance-buying public.

Our 50th annual report, with many interesting sidelights on a half-century's growth, is yours on request.

FRENCH COLONISTS LEARNED ABOUT TEXAS INDIVIDUALISM THE EXPENSIVE WAY

Victor Considerant led two hundred Europeans into Dallas in 1855 to establish a socialistic colony. A semi-communistic island in this region of rugged individualism was about as lasting, and as much in place as the proverbial snowball in Hades.

Considerant should have known better. For he had visited Texas and had a look. In fact he wrote a book about it titled "To Texas." But he was an idealist, hopped up on one of Europe's most Utopian dreams.

Considerant was a disciple of Francois M. C. Fourier. The fact that he had already made two monumental flops in Europe attempting to establish a Utopia, did not daunt him. Texas was the Promised Land, the answer to all social and economic problems, he declared.

A stock company was organized to promote the scheme. It set out to raise a million dollars and promised to pay six per cent interest on money subscribed. A hundred thousand dollars was to be in the treasury before colonists would be sent out. Considerant's book, and other ballyhoo, created such a sensation that in a short time $300,000 were on hand. Prospective colonists stood in line to sign up for the venture.

In the early spring of 1855, two hundred colonists, French and a few Belgians and Swiss, disembarked at Galveston Island. From Houston they expected to be transferred up the Trinity in boats to their new home sites. But instead they had to walk the 250 miles. In this unsettled land of Indians, they were hungry and scared most of the trip. They had begun to believe that the main thing this land "promised" was hardships and danger.

But these people were industrious and they had money. They named their new home La Reunion. They built houses and prepared land for agriculture. Their new social and political organization was new and strange to their neighbors. Members lived on a co-operative basis, most of them ate at a common dining hall, the women had about as much say in public affairs as men, they dispensed with churches and held their frolics on Sunday nights.

Though agriculture was the essential means of support, crops turned out very badly—for the most obvious of reasons: Only two of the immigrants were farmers. All the others were artisans and craftsmen, musicians, dancing masters, artist, watchmakers, shoemakers, etc. and more ironic still, the only known profitable use of this particular land has been the production of cement.

A blizzard struck in May of 1856 and chilled the people in their flimsy houses, and froze their crops. That summer a drought came, followed by a plague of grasshoppers. The colonists became dissatisfied with Considerant's bookkeeping and some of

ARE YOU HONEST?

I want each of you to ask yourself this question, "Am I honest?" Whether you are a business man, professional man, housewife, minister or student, you want to have the reputation for being honest. We highly prize such a reputation. In fact we will almost fight at the drop of a hat when anyone dares to inquire regarding our integrity. Most successful business men have arrived where they are by following a philosophy of life that says "You must be honest if you want to succeed." How long would a doctor or dentist remain in business without maintaining a strict honesty in all relationships?

We are very insistent that our officials in Washington and elsewhere live up to the standards of honesty that befit a position of leadership. Our success in business, politics, home and school is absolutely dependent upon our being honest. Since this is a recognized value in all walks of life, let us study the meaning of the term. Just what do we mean by being honest?

First of all, we show honesty by our speech. But that is only the first half, for our actions must then jive with our speech or we are not being honest. For example: A man comes to your door selling magazine subscriptions. He tells you that for five dollars you will receive a certain magazine every month for a year. You pay him and later learn that there is no such magazine in print. Of course you say, on the basis of his action, he was telling you an untruth. The man's actions would speak louder than his words and say "I am a liar. I do not mean what I say." So when we study this word "honest," we must keep in mind that action must work in co-operation with speech or we have to admit we are not being honest.

Now suppose we take a poll of this city and ask this question, "Do you think there is any need to maintain the churches here in Cameron?" What kind of an answer do you suppose we would get? Why a resounding "Yes" of course. People recognize the value of the church. No politician, business man, housewife or student would dare let themselves go on record as being in favor of doing away with the church. "We need the church," they would say. "No community should be without one." So much for speech. Now let's take a look at action.

Since the church is of universal interest, it should be the most active organization in town. According to our poll, the church is a must in our community. We may not all be interested in the grocery business, or selling automobiles, or handling legal matters, but we are all interested in the church. Therefore the church is the one thing common to all businesses. It doesn't matter whether you are a banker or a grocer; whether you loan money or borrow it; whether you are retired or still drawing a weekly paycheck. You have one thing in common with your fellowmen and that is the church. This is the secret of the success of the church. It isn't restricted to one group of people. It isn't tied down to one particular Droughts, blizzards and plagues the men might have endured. But when the women set in with their I told you so's and began nagging them about "their" "idealistic nonsense" reminding them that they had come over only "because of somebody else," the venture was doomed.

La Reunion was not disbanded, it just faded away. Considerant was one of the first to go. A few of the immigrants went back to Europe. Most of them moved over into Dallas proper and found employment. In 1865 the courts ordered sale of the last of the colony property.

The colonists found, in the final analysis, that Considerant was right when he said Texas was a land of opportunity for everyone. But what these Europeans had to learn for themselves was that the way to opportunity in Texas was an individualistic way.

HIGHWAY PATROLS

Rural highway patrols enforcing traffic laws against speeders and other dangerous drivers must be increased immediately in all but a few states to head off "shocking increases" in deaths and injuries in traffic accidents, the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies warned today.

The most conservative estimates show that from 5,000 to 7,500 more highway patrolmen are needed in the nation as a whole to protect the public more adequately against accidents caused by drivers violating traffic laws, according to Thomas N. Boate, manager of the Association's accident prevention department. He added that they should be assigned entirely to rural highways, "where they will do the most good" in reducing accidents.

Declaring that highway patrol forces in general are "dangerously understaffed," Mr. Boate said he made his estimate of their "urgent" manpower needs after comparing present numerical strength with standards established for the various states by the International Association of Chiefs of Police. His study of this data disclosed that "sub-standard" forces, in point of size, exist in nearly all states.

Present overall strength of state patrols assigned to traffic duty in rural areas, where two-thirds of U. S. automobile fatalities and almost half of the injuries occur, is about 10,000 men, he said. He added that total personnel of state highway patrol and police forces, which usually have numerous other duties besides patrolling rural roads, numbers about 14,000 men.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY.

Now, let's see if our actions follow our speech in cooperation or if they give the lie to our group statement "We believe in the church."

You business men! Are you seeing to it that your employees are actively interested in a church? Do you make it easy for them to attend church? Do you set the example by attending and participating in the program of the church of your choice? Remember your action must cooperate with your words or your reputation for honesty will be questioned.

You housewives! You told us, in our poll, that you, too, think the community just couldn't get along without a church. Do you mean what you say? Is the church the most important institution in town? Do you see to it that your neighbors are invited to attend church? Do you know what church they are interested in? Do you set the example for your neighborhood by attending church regularly and taking an active part in its program? Remember, you, too, must make sure your actions cooperate with your speech or else your honesty will be questioned.

And what about you students? You also make the statement "We think the church is important to the community." Do you really? Would you invite your schoolmate to attend church with you or to the one of his own choosing? You would think nothing of asking him to go to the movie, but you have already said that the church is more important than the movie. Again, let me ask if you set the example by going to church and Sunday school as if you really believed it was important to do such things. For you, too, are aware of being looked upon as honest. Do your actions cooperate with your speech?

I think we realize that the church is that intangible something which unites all businesses, housewives, and students into a harmonious group working together for the good of the community. For the church is not in competition with you, Mr. Business Man, nor Mrs. School Teacher, nor you either housewives and students. Rather, the church is here to serve you. To help you live happier lives. To help you find the meaning to life. The Apostle Paul, in writing to his friend Timothy, gives him this advice. "Do your best to win God's approval as a workman who has nothing to be ashamed of, but rightly shapes the message of truth." (II Timothy 2:15 American Translation).

Polls are easy to take. Questions are easy to answer. We can say with our lips, "The church is vitally important to the community" but we must follow through with our hands and hearts to win God's approval by rightly shaping the words of truth.

Cotton Insurance Deadline March 31

Alva E. Sanders, Milam County PMA Administration officer reports, March 31, 1953 as the final date that cotton producers may make application for Federal All-Risk Cotton Crop Insurance.

Sanders says "No cotton grower should attempt to make a crop without this low cost protection."

According to Sanders "This insurance protects the investment the cotton producer has in his crop, against damage or complete loss from any natural unavoidable cause." Sanders states, the insurance program is a farmer's program, and all premiums that are paid in to the corporation remains in the county to cover any losses that may occur. He urges all cotton producers to come by the PMA office and get all the details regarding the program before March 31, 1953 deadline.
